

My Trip to the Design Museum – by Florence Yardley

On the 7th of February, my family and I went to the Design Museum, in London.

We went because my brother Rowan had entered the Ventura Design competition, with 3 friends from Beechen Cliff, and they got into the top 10 teams. So they were invited to the award ceremony – and so were we!

Rowan and his friends designed a portable phone holder, made from Bamboo. It was really exciting to see who was going to win, and the other designs were really good too – my favourite was a plate that stopped things spilling off.

Rowan's team the award for the most Sustainable design, so we were really happy 😊 ♥

Rowan wants to design things for his job when he leaves school. His design is on show at the museum.
